Young Men Entertain Girls Club—Delightful Affair

The most delightful social affair of the season took place Thursday evening. The happy occasion being a Theatre Party given by the young men in compliment to "The Ten" club girls. The couples met at the home of Mrs. Harriet Browning at eight o'clock, from there to the Idle Hour, chaperoned by Mrs. Browning and Mrs. Kemp, where a pleasant hour was spent. The merry party then went to Mrs. Brownings where entertainment and refreshments awaited them. A novel contest was one of the features of the evening. Each guest was given a stick of gum and a toothpick and asked to chew and form some kind of an animal or bird for which prizes were offered. For a time amusement ran high till the judges announced the time up and the articles were placed on a waiter, after careful inspection the prizes were given to Miss Elizabeth Kemp for creating a life-life cat and to Hal Thompson, who proved an expert on pigeon making. The prizes were a box of candy and a sack of peanuts.

Music and social chat interspersed with refreshments of delicious brick cream cake, salted almonds and mints was the remaining past time which lasted till the wee small hours. The girls are loud in their praises of the young men for this charming evening and say, with the Earlinton boys, none can compare.

NEW RED CROSS ACTIVITIES

Well Known Nursing Leader Honored

As a great humane and patriotic institution, devoted to the mitigation of suffering for the sake of humanity and the upbuilding of a strong and vigorous people, the American Red Cross, through its nursing service is carrying into the homes of the people such simple instruction in hygiene and home care of the sick as well as aid in the improvement of living conditions and the prevention of illness, and make it possible for women to render intelligently such care to the sick in their homes as may safely be entrusted to them.

To encourage the employment of visiting nurses, not only in small cities and towns, but in vast stretches of country where the services of a physician are difficult to obtain and where trained nurses are now unknown, a Town and Country Nursing Service has recently been established by the Red Cross. It is hoped through cooperation with local communities that the dwellers in all sections of the country even the most isolated, may eventually be assured proper nursing care in case of serious illness.

To Miss Jane A. Delano, the Chairman of the National Committee on Nursing Service, through whose instrumentality the nursing work of the Red Cross has been brought to its present high plane, the Red Cross gold Medal of Merit has been awarded by the President.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, the active head of the Red Cross, in presenting Miss Delano to President Woodrow Wilson, said:

"In token of its great appreciation of her services to the Red Cross, the General Board has awarded to Miss Jane A. Delano the Red Cross gold Medal of Merit. It is due to Miss Delano's devoted and efficient labors that a splendid corps of over four thousand of the best trained nurses in this country have been enrolled in the Red Cross for active service in time of war or disaster. Not only has this large corps been enrolled, but by means of 110 local committees a system has been established that enables the Red Cross to mobilize within a few hours' time anywhere in this country the number of nurses required for active service. It is to Miss Delano and the patriotic interest she has aroused in our American nurses that the Red Cross owes this most excellent organization. The people of the United States may well be grateful for the unnumbered and efficient work of this devoted woman."

No Money Needed

In the Atlantic ocean lies the small island of Ascension, of volcanic formation and having a population of only 450. It was uninhabited until the confinement of Napoleon at St. Helena when it was occupied by a small British force. Ascension is governed by a captain appointed by the British admiralty. There is no private property in land, no rents, no taxes, and no use for money. The flocks and herds are public property, and the meat is issued as rations. So are the vegetables grown on the farms. When an island fisherman makes a catch, he brings it to the guard room, where it is issued by the sergeant-major. Practically the entire population are sailors, and they work at most of the common trades. The mulattoes are a Jack Tar; so is the gardener; so are the shepherds, the stockmen, the grocers, the carpenters and plumbers.

Water wagon is well filled now, but not all are season ticket holders. The telephone trust has yielded to the demands of the government, but you can't bluff Central that way.
